The two leading contenders, Hillary Clinton and Donald Trump, have also so far been reluctant to take a clear position on the issue. Trump has repeatedly said that he would consider providing a path to citizenship for undocumented immigrants "if it's good for the country", but has said he would prefer to see a return to the "Bush program", which granted temporary legal status to undocumented immigrants. However, after a protracted fight on Capitol Hill, Congress last month passed a deal that keeps undocumented immigrants from being deported and lays the groundwork for them to eventually gain citizenship. A court challenge to the program has yet to be heard. The Washington Post reported in July that Clinton, too, had been pushing to delay or kill the deal in part because she did not want to risk alienating a large section of Hispanic voters. "I don't think we're better off shutting out the seven million people that are here, that are contributing to the workforce, that are paying taxes and that want to make a contribution," Clinton said in March./* * To change this license header, choose License Headers in Project Properties. * To change this template file, choose Tools | Templates * and open the template in the editor. */ package edu.brown.benchmark.test.util; import java.io.BufferedReader; import java.io.File; import java.io.FileInputStream; import java.io.FileNotFoundException; import java.io.IOException; import java.io.InputStreamReader; import java.util.ArrayList; import java.util.List; import java.util.concurrent.TimeUnit; / * Utility class for working with files. 81e310abbf
